

Volume One, Number One of JNCHC resumes an important strand of conversation within the National Collegiate Honors Council. From 1969 through 1995, NCHCs refereed journal, Forum for Honors, provided scholarly and theoretical perspectives on the national honors movement. Many of us have felt the absence of these perspectives as a lost voice within the multiplicity of conversations that take place at our conferences, in our newsletter (The National Honors Report), within our committees, and on e-mail. Picking up on the fine work of Dr. Sara Varhus, former editor of Forum for Honors and contributor to this first issue of JNCHC, we hope to provide again the opportunity for scholars in the field of honors to exchange research, reflections, and insights within the more formal context of a national refereed journal.
