

How much is too much for a human being to handle? What is it about the human spirit that enables us to push on through insurmountable odds? When it is easier to simply give up? For Julie and Bill, that question loomed over their heads. Serving his second tour in Iraq left Bill with more questions than answers and the possibility of never seeing his wife or newborn son again was an ache he felt every minute of every day. He had to get home, he promised he would come back to her, but he never meant for it to happen in this way. He never meant for this. Tommy and Brittany thought they had turned a corner. Things were finally on track after so much turmoil and they both began to look at a future filled with possibilities. That was before an obsessed nurse went after Tommy, by going after his heart and soul. Tommy was forced to make the ultimate decision and in doing so, gave up a piece of him. How would life ever be the same for them? For Tommy and Brittany and Bill and Julie it was a question they all needed to know. Can love survive the hardest of trials? Can your soul mate hear you in your darkest hour? Can love endure?
