

When Penny's little sister gives her a bottle of cheap perfume for her birthday, insisting she wear it when she goes for her job interview at the new veterinarian's, Penny indulges her. What's the harm? But unbeknownst to Penny, the perfume contains a love potion. When she meets her boss to be, her whole world changes. She finds work she loves, and a man who takes her breath away and who seems equally smitten with her. But then she learns the truth about the perfume, and her heart shatters. She should've known it was all too good to be true.  The tiger stops snarling and turns its head, its terrifying yellow gaze fixed on Penny. While she suffers a thousand deaths, he pads toward her and sniffs. "Nice k-kitty. Wh-why don't you go back into your cage?" The great beast calmly looks at her, then, miraculously, does as she suggests. Garth quickly closes the cage door and reaches for a trembling Penny. He holds her tight. "I'm reacting to the tiger, he tells himself as a shudder runs through his body, not her soft skin.
