

Technology is a thing of the past as a power outage covers the globe. One family struggles to do what's right when so much is going wrong. Best-selling suspense author Terri Blackstock weaves a masterful what-if series in which global catastrophe reveals the darkness in human hearts, and lights the way to restoration for a self-centered world. An era unlike any in modern civilization is descending without lights, electronics, running water, or automobiles. As a global blackout lengthens into months, the neighbors of Oak Hollow grapple with a chilling realization: The power may never return. Survival has become a lifestyle. When two young thieves break into the Brannings home and clean out the food in their pantry, Jeff Branning tracks them to a filthy apartment and discovers a family of children living alone, stealing to stay alive. Where is their mother? The search for answers uncovers a trail of desperation and murder, and for the Brannings, a powerful new purpose that can transform their entire community, and above all, themselves.
